Jerome Mining.

The hills south of Jerome literally swarm with miners, prospectors and others interested in mining. There is the greatest activity as far south as the Mingus company, which is employing twenty men. At the Burkshyre camp there are about fifteen men engaged sinking a shaft; at the Cliff six men are working by hand. The Iron King has a full force driving a tunnel. The Copper Chief lately let go the most of their men, it is said, because of the incomplete condition of the plant to reduce their ore.

Mine buildings at the Copper Chief are much more pretentious than those camps; unlike other propositions in these hills its values are carried in what appears to be a fine sand and very soft rock. The treatment of this ore has been a study by Hendy who thinks he has passed the experimental age so far as getting the best results by chemical treatment in his laboratory. Vats for treating the pulverized ores have been filled and treated by chemical agents and the tailings show that a very small fraction of 1 per cent of the values carried by the ore is allowed to escape. New vats will be put up and an increased force of men put to work.—Jerome Reporter.

Attention!

Lodges, Societies and Parties will be well pleased to know that Henry Collmann, of the Brewery Cafe, will take their orders for Banquets, Balls and other entertainments on short notice.

A Rich Clean-up.

William Lawrence came to Globe last week, bringing 76 ounces of gold (Troy weight), representing a month's clean-up from his mine, two miles south of Dripping Springs. The gold was shipped from Globe by express. Its value is from $1,200 to $1,300. Mr. Lawrence and J. C. Glisson are the owners of the mine and they have been working it only a few months. They made several shipments of ore, but the charges were so heavy that they decided to work it themselves and for that purpose erected an arrastra which answers the purpose very well.

The mine is an old location formerly owned by United States Marshal Griffith, who sunk a shaft 70 feet and got some very good ore, but the ledge was a blind lead, and was found by Lawrence and Glisson about 30 feet from the shaft. The gulch had been worked over successfully several times for placer gold, showing that the gold must have come from a ledge near by, and Lawrence and Glisson, after diligent search, discovered it. The ledge is from two to three feet wide and carries a very rich streak, which in some places is not wider than the thickness of one's finger, and in other places widens into pockets. This streak assays 202 ounces of fine gold to the ton, and the ledge matter $15 to $20. The gold is in decomposed iron, which crumbles easily. Lawrence and Glisson have two claims, one on either side of the discovery shaft.

WHITE GHOST WILL RACE.

Vanderbilt Will Tour by Auto from New York to Minneapolis on a Bet.

A New York man who was at Minneapolis the other day says that on the occasion of a dinner given at the Waldorf-Astoria recently William K. Vanderbilt bet $10,000 with a New York banker that he would ride his new French automobile from the doors of the Waldorf-Astoria to the West hotel in Minneapolis in 15 days. He adds that the bet was closed and the attempt is to be made during this month. The new automobile is a racing machine, he says, very strongly constructed and capable of making tremendous speed. Says the New Yorker:

"The French automobile is called 'The White Ghost.' It is about the swiftest thing on wheels in New York at present, and nothing pleases its owner any better than a chance to let it travel to its full limit. I understand he is to be accompanied on this trip by his French chauffeur, the expert who accompanies him on all important trips. He will also carry his valet. I am quite prepared to see Mr. Vanderbilt make his trip in extraordinary time."

Mr. Shallow—What queer notions children get sometimes, to be sure. There's my son Freddie, for instance; he has an almost unconquerable desire to become a cowboy.

Mrs. Callow—Nothing so very strange about that; I have often heard you say he was a great calf.—Boston Courier.

A Fourfold Celebration.

Col. Girard, of Neuchatel, Switzerland, on one and the same day celebrated his eightieth birthday, his golden wedding, the silver wedding of his daughter, and the marriage of a grand daughter.

Increase in Price of Salt.

On the 1st of July, 1900, the price of salt in Germany was advanced from 8 marks to 8.70 marks ($1.90 to $2.07) per 120 pounds. The salt mines of the country are owned and operated by the government. The increase is attributed to the rise in the price of labor.

Clothing Matters

We are better equipped than ever to take proper care and give more perfect satisfaction in our Men's Clothing Department. To this end we have now in our steady employ a Tailor, whose sole business it is to remedy any defect or misfit, no matter how slight; to see that there is a just-rightness about every garment that leaves the department. This makes satisfaction doubly sure, whether you pick out a suit from our stock, or are more exacting—as you've a right to be—about a made-to-order suit.

In this connection we might add that we are prepared to press and clean clothes—properly, satisfactorily, economically.

Trouser Lengths

One hundred and some odd pieces of woollens in trouser lengths from which to make selections. There's quite a difference between selecting trousers from small samples and full lengths. No chance of mistaking the quality or getting a false idea of the pattern. No such liberal stock of piece goods has ever before been shown in Bisbee. No two patterns alike that means exclusiveness; not much to pay—that's economy; no time like now—that means having the full assortment to choose from.

Ves-Twos

It was a clever man who thought out Ves-Two. The idea is so clever it has been patented. Ves-Two is two vests in one; a reversible, turn either side out, fancy vest. One side is double breasted, the other single breasted. Fancy worsteds and silk vestings, each side strikingly different from the other. And the Ves-Two costs no more than you usually pay for one vest. We would suggest that you see these Ves-Twos anyway. From $4 to $7.50.

Mackintoshes

and Rain Coats for Men or Boys. All sizes, all prices, and all equally good. Not all rain coats are rain proof. The coats we sell shed water like the proverbial duck's back. They are made right—that's why.
